7. CELEBRATION OF REPUBLIC DAY 2013; “Human Rights and Social Justice, Lets End Child Labour.”

It was on 26th January 1950 that India became a nation in the true sense, with a constitution and elected representatives of the people. The Republic Day of India is celebrated to mark the adoption of the Constitution of India and the transition of India from a British Dominion to a republic on January 26, 1950, when regional identity takes a backseat and what matters most is the universal appeal of unity and brotherhood projected by all Indians. On this day India also realize the dream of all those freedom fighters who, fought for and sacrificed their lives for freedom. The 64th Great Republic Day of India was celebrated with most pomp and grandeur at Bolpur Sub-Division of Birbhum on 26th January 2013. SEVAKS was formally requested by Mr. Prabal Kanti Maity, Sub-Divisional Officer of Bolpur Sub-Division to participate with Tableau in the March Past of 64th Republic Day of India at Bolpur Duk Bunglow Maidan. Tableau on Child Labour and Child Education at the 64th Great Republic Day 2012 March Past at Dukbunglow Maidan, Bolpur, Birbhum on 26th January 2013

In the Republic Day 2013 March Past we have selected the theme of our tableau on Child Labour; one of the most burning problems of a developing country like India. The theme was “Human Rights and Social Justice, Lets End Child Labour”, which is adopted by the International Labour Organisation for this year.

On this great occasion, we brought forward the Child Labour issue through our tableau and make our countrymen to at least think about the possible ways to stop the child labour, which can save the children who are the future of our nation and truly establish Social Justice and protect Human Rights. By keeping this in mind, we decorated our tableau with meaningful attractive messages and photographs on the elimination of Child Labour and promoting Child Education. Further, a small drama was also performed at the tableau by an Instructor and students of a Child Labour School, through which we try to aware the general mass including the parents of Child Labour on the necessity of education and vocational training for their children for achieving success in future life. As a whole, we made an effort to convey a message to the viewers from our tableau that those who hire children for work should think whether they will allow their children to do the same work.
